The Gladiator Investment Perspective

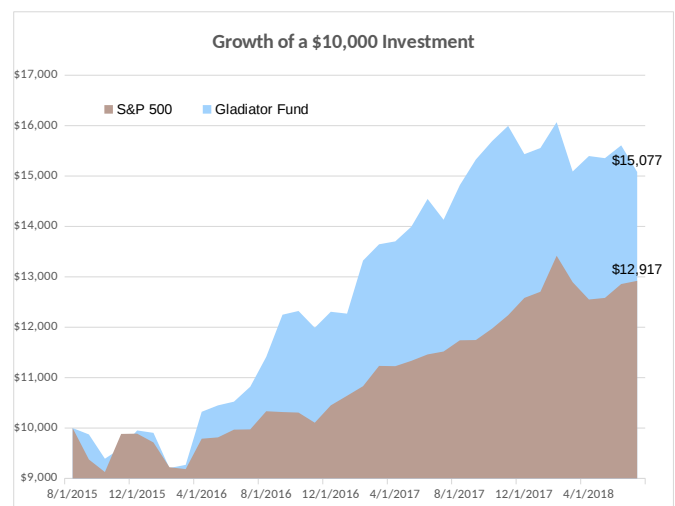

At Gladiator Capital we believe high-conviction portfolio management will add significant value over passive and most actively-managed strategies. We assert that superior long-term performance is primarily the result of effective active management through superior stock selection rather than sector rotation.

The Gladiator investment philosophy was born out of leading-edge industry research in behavioral finance. Our process capitalizes on the well-documented chronic underperformance active investment managers experience due to biases inherent in human decision making. We have identified a common set of pitfalls that are the cause of the majority of active managers' underperformance and have designed our investment process to capitalize on these issues.

Our methodology starts by screening exclusively on components of the S&P 500. From there, Gladiator selects only companies which pay reasonable dividends, have attractive valuation ratios, display superior top and bottom line growth, and positively utilize leverage. We find these stocks are the ones with the highest likelihood of delivering market-beating returns.

Investment Performance

In the first half of 2018 The Gladiator Fund earned a total return of -3.06%, lagging the S&P 500 which returned 2.93%. Much of the performance gap between the Fund and the benchmark is attributable to significant events impacting specific portfolio holdings, most notably with Symantec. Additionally, political rhetoric led to higher than normal sector volatility. Given this backdrop, the Gladiator Fund performed effectively in line with the S&P 500 in April and May but lagged strongly in June. Looking back over a longer time horizon, the Gladiator Fund has generated strong returns since its inception of 50.77%, outpacing the S&P 500's 29.17% by 21.60%.

Investment Objective

Long Term Capital Appreciation & Returns Superior to the Overall Equity Market

- Consistently & meaningfully outperform the broader equity market as defined by the S&P 500
- Concentrated equity positions (historically under 15 holdings)
- Traditional long-only structure
- Non-Leveraged

Investment Approach/Methodology

Our investment process starts by focusing on information signals provided by company management, research analysts, & debt providers. We examine the career critical actions they take to indicate their true opinions.

Dividends - Clear signal of management's confidence in the long-term prospects of the business. Management avoids dividend cuts as much as possible.

Debt - Lenders typically have superior access to company information during their due diligence process. Providing large amounts of their own capital is a key indicator of the company's financial strength.

Estimates - The Fund puts absolutely no faith in sell side analyst's recommendations. However, analysts' estimates of revenue and

EPS growth, both current estimates & revision trends, provide investable information.

When all screens are combined we are left with a pool of potential holdings of roughly 5 - 15 stocks.
